N.T. - Notes of Testimony

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

1. A combination of Section 9(b)(3) of the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act and 16 Pa. Code §42.31(c) requires a respondent to file a written, verified answer to a complaint within thirty days of service of the complaint.
2. 16 Pa. Code §42.31(d) declares that the failure of a respondent to timely answer a complaint places a respondent in default.
3. Under 16 Pa. Code §42.33, when a respondent has not answered a complaint, a Rule to Show Cause may be issued.
4. Under Pa. Code §42.33(d)(4), when a respondent does not respond to a Rule to Show Cause, the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission ("PHRC") may make a finding of probable cause and enter a judgment for a Complainant on the issue of liability, to be followed by a public hearing on the issue of damages.
5. In these consolidated matters, the Respondent's failure to answer or respond to a Rule to show Cause resulted in the entry of a judgment for the Complainant on the issue of liability.
6. The PHRC has broad discretion in fashioning a remedy.

OPINION

These consolidated cases arose on two complaints filed by Ronald J. McNiel against Fuller Company. The Complainant's complaint at PHRC Docket No. E-90572-D alleged that on June 5, 1998, the Complainant was harassed by Ralph McCook, a Respondent General Supervisor because of the Complainant's race, African-American, and in retaliation for the Complainant having filed a prior discrimination complaint. The complaint at Docket No. E-90572-D states a claim under Sections 5(a) and Section 5(d) of the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act ("PHRA").

Ronald J. McNiel's verified complaint at Docket No. E-90572-D was filed on or about November 5, 1998. By correspondence dated July 7, 1999, the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission ("PHRC") Harrisburg regional office petitioned Motions Commissioner Howell for a Rule to Show Cause, indicating that Fuller Company had not answered Ronald J. McNiel's complaint. The petition declared that Fuller Company had been served with the complaint on March 2, 1999. The petition further indicted that, by correspondence dated May 3, 1999, Fuller Company was notified that its failure to answer Ronald J. McNiel's complaint could result in a judgment being entered for Ronald J. McNiel.

On July 9, 1999, a Rule to Show Cause was issued, directing Fuller Company to respond on or before August 2, 1999. After no response was filed, on August 12, 1999, Motions Commissioner Howell recommended a finding of liability to the full PHRC. On August 23, 1999, the full PHRC determined that on or about June 5, 19, 1998, Ronald J. McNiel was harassed because of his race, and in retaliation for filing a prior discrimination complaint.

The complaint at Docket No. E-92059-D alleged that on March 31, 1999, Ralph Nissley, the Respondent's Warehouse Manager harassed the Complainant because of his race and in retaliation for having filed a prior discrimination complaint. The complaint at Docket No. E-92059-D states claims under Section 5(a) and Section 5(d) of the PHRA.

Ronald J. McNiel's complaint at Docket No. E-92059-D was filed on June 9, 1999. By correspondence dated October 19, 1999, the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission ("PHRC") Harrisburg regional office petitioned Motions Commissioner Howell for a Rule to Show Cause, indicating that Fuller Company had not answered the complaint at Docket No. E-92059-D. The petition declared that Fuller Company was served with the complaint at Docket No. E-92059-D on July 21, 1999. The petition further indicated that by correspondence dated August 25, 1999, Fuller Company was notified that its failure to answer the Complaint at Docket No. E-92059-D could result in a judgment being entered for Ronald J. McNiel.

On October 21, 1999, a Rule to Show Cause was issued, directing Fuller Company to respond on or before November 19, 1999. After no response was filed, on March 29, 2000, Motions Commissioner Howell recommended a finding a liability on Docket No. E-92059-D to the full PHRC. On April 24, 2000, the full PHRC determined that on March 31, 1999 Ronald J. McNiel was harassed because of his race and in retaliation for filing a prior discrimination complaint.

The consolidated public hearing on the issue of appropriate damages was held December 8, 2000, in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, before Permanent Hearing Examiner Carl H. Summerson. The state's interest in the complaint was overseen by Ronald

W. Chadwell, PHRC Assistant Chief Counsel. Fuller Company did not attend.

After finding of liability in these cases conciliation efforts were unsuccessfully attempted. Subsequently, these matters were approved for a consolidated public hearing on the issue of appropriate damages.

Since liability had been found after Fuller Company failed to file answers, the only question at the consolidated public hearing was what damages Ronald J. McNiel could establish. Under Section 9(f)(1) of the PHRA, the PHRC is empowered to order the Respondent "to cease and desist from such unlawful discriminatory practice and to take such affirmative action, including, but not limited to, reimbursement of certifiable travel expenses in matters involving the complaint, compensation for loss of work in matters involving the complaint and any verifiable, reasonable out-of-pocket expenses caused by such unlawful discriminatory practice...as, in the judgement of the Commission, will effectuate the purposes of this act..."

Since the Complainant remains an employee of Fuller Company, the only pay loss to consider is compensation for loss of work associated with the complaints filed. Here, the uncontroverted evidence reflects that the Complainant lost five days of work. The Complainant works eight hours per day at an hourly rate of $12.76 per hour. Accordingly, an award of $510.40 is appropriate to compensate the Complainant for lost work.

We next turn to consideration of certifiable travel expenses. The uncontroverted evidence shows that the Complainant made four trips from Lancaster to Harrisburg in pursuit of his complaints. Administrative notice is taken that a round trip between Lancaster and Harrisburg is 74 miles. Under the PA. Management Directive 231.10 Amended, §09.C.(1), mileage reimbursement allowance for personal automobiles is 32.5 cents per mile. Accordingly, an award of $96.20 is appropriate to reimburse the Complainant for his travel expenses.

The Complainant seeks a review of his personnel file and the purging of any negative materials which, in any way, relate to the substance of the Complainant's complaints. Further the Complainant ask that the PHRC regional office be permitted to subsequently review the Complainant's personnel file to insure that an appropriate purging has occurred. This is an appropriate affirmative remedy.

Turning to the issue of the instances of race-based harassment and retaliation. Clearly, a cease and desist order is appropriate. Further, the Complainant seeks an order which insures that neither Ralph Nissley nor Ralph McCook will have further contact with the Complainant. With respect to Ralph Nissley, he is the manager of the department in which the Complainant works. This makes it impractical to order that there be no further contact between Nissley and the Complainant. Instead, it is appropriate to order that there be no further harassment and no further retaliation actions taken against the Complainant by Nissley. Further, it appears that in 1997, the Respondent's General Manager, Joe Riley; the Complainant's Supervisor, Dick Schroff; Nissley; and the Complainant had verbally agreed that Nissley would no longer address the Complainant directly. The PHRC will not interfere with such an agreement. Instead it is appropriate to order that, wherever practical, contact between Nissley and the Complainant shall be made through the Complainant's immediate Supervisor. When direct contact is necessary, such contact shall be wholly work related and done in a professional manner.

With respect to Ralph McCook, the evidence reflects that direct contact between McCook and the Complainant is not part of the daily operations of Fuller

Company. Accordingly, it is appropriate to order that, absent an exigent circumstance, McCook shall have no contact with the Complainant.

As a connected issue, the Complainant seeks affirmative protection against retaliation of Valerie L. Green, a Respondent employee who testified on behalf of the Complainant at the Public Hearing. Such protection should be ordered.

This brings us to consideration of whether Fuller Company has an effective policy against harassment and retaliation. To insure that Fuller Company has an effective policy, Fuller Company shall present to the PHRC Harrisburg regional office within thirty days a plan outlining the steps it intends to take to prevent both racial harassment and retaliation from occurring. Such plan should include an intention to affirmatively raise the issues of harassment and intimidation expressing strong disapproval, the development of appropriate sanctions, a method to inform employees of their right to raise issues of harassment and instructions to employees how to raise such issues.

The required plan should also include the development of methods to sensitize all concerned and a plan of education and training of all Fuller Company employees in the detection, correction, and prevention of harassment and retaliation.

Finally, the plan must be acceptable to the PHRC Harrisburg regional office. An appropriate order follows.

FINDING OF FACT*

1. Having been duly notified, the Respondent, Fuller Company, failed to appear at the Public Hearing held on December 8, 2000. (N.T. 3)
2. The Complainant, Ronald J. McNiel, lost an additional day of work on December 8, 2000, in order to attend the Public Hearing. (N.T. 11)
3. McNiel's job with the Respondent is Store Attendant, which is part of the Respondent's warehouse operation. (N.T. 21)
4. In 1997, Respondent Plant Manager, Joe Riely; McNiel's direct Supervisor, Dick Schrof; and Ralph Nissley, Respondent's warehouse manager, agreed together that Nissley was not to have any direct involvement with McNiel, but Nissley was instead to go through another manager in matters involving McNiel.
(N.T. 13, 14, 21)
5. Ralph McCook is a Supervisor in one of the Respondent's assembly areas.
(N.T. 26)
6. Contact between McCook and the warehouse could easily be accomplished without the need for interaction between McCook and McNiel. (N.T. 27)
7. Since filing of his complaints, the Respondent has given McNiel no assurances that McNiel would not be harassed. (N.T. 15-16)

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

1. A combination of Section 9(b)(3) of the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act and 16 Pa. Code §42.31(c) requires a respondent to file a written, verified answer to a complaint within thirty days of service of the complaint.
2. 16 Pa. Code §42.31(d) declares that the failure of a respondent to timely answer a complaint places a respondent in default.
3. Under 16 Pa. Code §42.33, when a respondent has not answered a complaint, a Rule to Show Cause may be issued.
4. Under Pa. Code §42.33(d)(4), when a respondent does not respond to a Rule to Show Cause, the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission ("PHRC") may make a finding of probable cause and enter a judgment for a Complainant on the issue of liability, to be followed by a public hearing on the issue of damages.
5. In these consolidated matters, the Respondent's failure to answer or respond to a Rule to show Cause resulted in the entry of a judgment for the Complainant on the issue of liability.
6. The PHRC has broad discretion in fashioning a remedy.

OPINION

These consolidated cases arose on two complaints filed by Ronald J. McNiel against Fuller Company. The Complainant's complaint at PHRC Docket No. E-90572-D alleged that on June 5, 1998, the Complainant was harassed by Ralph McCook, a Respondent General Supervisor because of the Complainant's race, African-American, and in retaliation for the Complainant having filed a prior discrimination complaint. The complaint at Docket No. E-90572-D states a claim under Sections 5(a) and Section 5(d) of the Pennsylvania Human Relations Act ("PHRA").

Ronald J. McNiel's verified complaint at Docket No. E-90572-D was filed on or about November 5, 1998. By correspondence dated July 7, 1999, the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission ("PHRC") Harrisburg regional office petitioned Motions Commissioner Howell for a Rule to Show Cause, indicating that Fuller Company had not answered Ronald J. McNiel's complaint. The petition declared that Fuller Company had been served with the complaint on March 2, 1999. The petition further indicted that, by correspondence dated May 3, 1999, Fuller Company was notified that its failure to answer Ronald J. McNiel's complaint could result in a judgment being entered for Ronald J. McNiel.

On July 9, 1999, a Rule to Show Cause was issued, directing Fuller Company to respond on or before August 2, 1999. After no response was filed, on August 12, 1999, Motions Commissioner Howell recommended a finding of liability to the full PHRC. On August 23, 1999, the full PHRC determined that on or about June 5, 19, 1998, Ronald J. McNiel was harassed because of his race, and in retaliation for filing a prior discrimination complaint.

The complaint at Docket No. E-92059-D alleged that on March 31, 1999, Ralph Nissley, the Respondent's Warehouse Manager harassed the Complainant because of his race and in retaliation for having filed a prior discrimination complaint. The complaint at Docket No. E-92059-D states claims under Section 5(a) and Section 5(d) of the PHRA.

Ronald J. McNiel's complaint at Docket No. E-92059-D was filed on June 9, 1999. By correspondence dated October 19, 1999, the Pennsylvania Human Relations Commission ("PHRC") Harrisburg regional office petitioned Motions Commissioner Howell for a Rule to Show Cause, indicating that Fuller Company had not answered the complaint at Docket No. E-92059-D. The petition declared that Fuller Company was served with the complaint at Docket No. E-92059-D on July 21, 1999. The petition further indicated that by correspondence dated August 25, 1999, Fuller Company was notified that its failure to answer the Complaint at Docket No. E-92059-D could result in a judgment being entered for Ronald J. McNiel.

On October 21, 1999, a Rule to Show Cause was issued, directing Fuller Company to respond on or before November 19, 1999. After no response was filed, on March 29, 2000, Motions Commissioner Howell recommended a finding a liability on Docket No. E-92059-D to the full PHRC. On April 24, 2000, the full PHRC determined that on March 31, 1999 Ronald J. McNiel was harassed because of his race and in retaliation for filing a prior discrimination complaint.

The consolidated public hearing on the issue of appropriate damages was held December 8, 2000, in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, before Permanent Hearing Examiner Carl H. Summerson. The state's interest in the complaint was overseen by Ronald

W. Chadwell, PHRC Assistant Chief Counsel. Fuller Company did not attend.

After finding of liability in these cases conciliation efforts were unsuccessfully attempted. Subsequently, these matters were approved for a consolidated public hearing on the issue of appropriate damages.

Since liability had been found after Fuller Company failed to file answers, the only question at the consolidated public hearing was what damages Ronald J. McNiel could establish. Under Section 9(f)(1) of the PHRA, the PHRC is empowered to order the Respondent "to cease and desist from such unlawful discriminatory practice and to take such affirmative action, including, but not limited to, reimbursement of certifiable travel expenses in matters involving the complaint, compensation for loss of work in matters involving the complaint and any verifiable, reasonable out-of-pocket expenses caused by such unlawful discriminatory practice...as, in the judgement of the Commission, will effectuate the purposes of this act..."

Since the Complainant remains an employee of Fuller Company, the only pay loss to consider is compensation for loss of work associated with the complaints filed. Here, the uncontroverted evidence reflects that the Complainant lost five days of work. The Complainant works eight hours per day at an hourly rate of $12.76 per hour. Accordingly, an award of $510.40 is appropriate to compensate the Complainant for lost work.

We next turn to consideration of certifiable travel expenses. The uncontroverted evidence shows that the Complainant made four trips from Lancaster to Harrisburg in pursuit of his complaints. Administrative notice is taken that a round trip between Lancaster and Harrisburg is 74 miles. Under the PA. Management Directive 231.10 Amended, §09.C.(1), mileage reimbursement allowance for personal automobiles is 32.5 cents per mile. Accordingly, an award of $96.20 is appropriate to reimburse the Complainant for his travel expenses.

The Complainant seeks a review of his personnel file and the purging of any negative materials which, in any way, relate to the substance of the Complainant's complaints. Further the Complainant ask that the PHRC regional office be permitted to subsequently review the Complainant's personnel file to insure that an appropriate purging has occurred. This is an appropriate affirmative remedy.

Turning to the issue of the instances of race-based harassment and retaliation. Clearly, a cease and desist order is appropriate. Further, the Complainant seeks an order which insures that neither Ralph Nissley nor Ralph McCook will have further contact with the Complainant. With respect to Ralph Nissley, he is the manager of the department in which the Complainant works. This makes it impractical to order that there be no further contact between Nissley and the Complainant. Instead, it is appropriate to order that there be no further harassment and no further retaliation actions taken against the Complainant by Nissley. Further, it appears that in 1997, the Respondent's General Manager, Joe Riley; the Complainant's Supervisor, Dick Schroff; Nissley; and the Complainant had verbally agreed that Nissley would no longer address the Complainant directly. The PHRC will not interfere with such an agreement. Instead it is appropriate to order that, wherever practical, contact between Nissley and the Complainant shall be made through the Complainant's immediate Supervisor. When direct contact is necessary, such contact shall be wholly work related and done in a professional manner.

With respect to Ralph McCook, the evidence reflects that direct contact between McCook and the Complainant is not part of the daily operations of Fuller

Company. Accordingly, it is appropriate to order that, absent an exigent circumstance, McCook shall have no contact with the Complainant.

As a connected issue, the Complainant seeks affirmative protection against retaliation of Valerie L. Green, a Respondent employee who testified on behalf of the Complainant at the Public Hearing. Such protection should be ordered.

This brings us to consideration of whether Fuller Company has an effective policy against harassment and retaliation. To insure that Fuller Company has an effective policy, Fuller Company shall present to the PHRC Harrisburg regional office within thirty days a plan outlining the steps it intends to take to prevent both racial harassment and retaliation from occurring. Such plan should include an intention to affirmatively raise the issues of harassment and intimidation expressing strong disapproval, the development of appropriate sanctions, a method to inform employees of their right to raise issues of harassment and instructions to employees how to raise such issues.

The required plan should also include the development of methods to sensitize all concerned and a plan of education and training of all Fuller Company employees in the detection, correction, and prevention of harassment and retaliation.

Finally, the plan must be acceptable to the PHRC Harrisburg regional office. An appropriate order follows.

RONALD J. MCNIEL v. FULLER COMPANY
E-90572-D

Two cases were consolidated for Public Hearing on the limited issue of what are appropriate damages. These cases went to Public Hearing only on the issue of appropriate damages because liability was automatically found against Fuller Company since the company failed to answer McNiel's complaints. In other words, these cases are good examples of the Rule to Show Cause process in action.

McNiel's complaints had alleged two separate instances of race-based harassment and retaliation. The complaint at E-90572-D alleged that on June 5, 1998, McNiel was harassed by Ralph McCook, a general supervisor at Fuller Company, because of McNiel's race, African American and in retaliation for McNiel having filed a prior complaint. The complaint at E-92059-D alleged that McNiel was again harassed, this time by Ralph Nissley, a Warehouse Manager at Fuller Company, again because of McNiel's race and in retaliation for McNeil having previously filed a complaint.

Fuller Company did not answer either complaint and two separate Rules to Show Cause were issued. Since Fuller Company failed to respond to the Rules to Show Cause, Fuller Company was found liable for the discrimination alleged in both complaints. Accordingly, a Public Hearing which consolidated these two cases for a determination on appropriate damages was held.

After the Public Hearing, the PHRC awarded McNiel the following: $96.20 as certifiable travel expenses and $510.40 which represents the amount of wages lost by McNiel in pursuit of these cases - (5 work days lost). Additionally, the PHRC issued a cease and desist order prohibiting Fuller Company from racial harassment and retaliation. Fuller Company was also ordered to take steps to insure that neither McCook nor Nissley have any unnecessary contact with McNiel. McNiel's personnel file is to be purged of any negative documentation which relates in any way to McNiel's complaints. Finally, Fuller Company must develop and implement an effective harassment policy and institute sensitivity training.
